About Joe's Theater Tech Program: The Theater Tech Program (TTP), is a workforce development initiative based at Joe's Movement Emporium that supports at-risk youth ages 16-21 in Prince George's County, MD. TTP provides young people with technical instruction in theater production, operation and digital media. Paired with critical supports that include college exploration, life skills coaching and real work experience, TTP gives participants life and employability skills toward a successful future. TTP embraces youth most at risk by providing one-on-one support, mentoring and a belief in their abilities. Participants are high school seniors or recently out-of-school youth from extremely low-income households who face numerous barriers to success. The program was created in 2008 in response to the county's high teen unemployment rate. It consistently graduates 95% of students from high school and 100% go on to college (70%); military (15%) or enter the job force (15%).
